

Invitation to a seminar with focus on e-Health, November 30th, 2018

e-Health – what is needed for research to reach clinical benefit?

Which challenges are facing scientists developing e-Health solutions?

This seminar will focus on issues needed to consider already at an early stage when developing e-Health solutions. It will take place on November 30th in room Medelhavet at Wallenberglaboratoriet, Jan Waldenströms gata 5, Malmö.

We have invited Henrik Ahlén, e-Health Strategist, Advisor and Production Manager, with extensive experience in helping organisations understand and explore new possibilities and develop state-of-the-art digital services that empower patients and health care professionals.

Three companies – Dianovator, EASY Platform, and Joint Academy – in various stages of maturity, developing E-health solutions based on knowledge generated at Lund University will share their experience; this is how they succeeded!
